FROM MY NEW ZEALAND Sanctuary... TO YOURS

Rain on the roof,
waves on the shore,
peace in my heart.

New Zealand has taught me that wellness doesn't always happen inside a spa.

- ♡ Sometimes it's standing barefoot beside the ocean.
- ♡ Sometimes it's listening to the waves.
- ♡ Sometimes it's walking in the rain or sitting quietly under a porch, listening to the sound of it.
- ♡ Sometimes it's breathing fresh air, watching a sunset, or giving yourself permission to be still.
- ♡ Sometimes it's sharing fresh, simple food with people you love.

These are the experiences I want to bring home to you.

Breathe.
Let the ocean
calm your mind.

Walk.
Move your body.
Feel the sand.

Listen.
Let the rain wash away what you no longer need.

Gratitude.
Notice the beauty.
Give thanks.

Let Go.
Release stress.
Return to peace.

YOU DON'T NEED NEW ZEALAND TO DO THIS.

Find your ocean. It may be a beach, a porch, a garden, a park, or simply a quiet chair by a window.

TAKE TEN MINUTES.

Breathe. Be still. Begin again.

NOW, LET'S CREATE A LITTLE PIECE OF NEW ZEALAND IN YOUR OWN HOME.

HOW MY HOME SPA Story BEGAN AGAIN

Sometimes life doesn't take us back to where we were.

It takes us somewhere completely new.

Before New Zealand, I had already spent years creating spa experiences and helping others find moments of wellness and relaxation. Then my life changed dramatically, and I made the difficult decision to close that chapter of The Ladybug Spa.

I thought that part of my life might be over.

Then, during one of the hardest seasons of my life,
I boarded a cruise from Barcelona — and somewhere along the Mediterranean, I met a wonderful Kiwi named Tony.

Neither of us could have imagined where that meeting would lead.

Eventually I traveled to New Zealand to spend time with him.
Then COVID arrived, flights stopped, and what I thought would be a visit became an unexpected new chapter.

During those two years, Tony showed me New Zealand — its oceans, beaches, forests, peaceful places and natural beauty. And little by little, I began creating wellness rituals again.

But this time, I wasn't building a traditional spa.
I was learning how to create a spa life at home.

And that little idea would eventually become something much bigger.

Welcome to New Zealand — the place where my home-spa journey began again.

New Zealand gave me more than a new home...

It gave me a new rhythm, a new purpose, and a new way to live wellness every day.

I'LL BUILD YOU A SPA. ♡

When I told Tony that I couldn't go back to my old Ladybug Spa, he said something I never expected:

"Then I'll build you one here." ♡

My daughter and I dreamed it up, room by room, and Tony brought those dreams to life—a massage room, hydrotherapy, infrared sauna, peaceful meditation spaces, and even a beautiful tub for the two of us beside a fireplace.

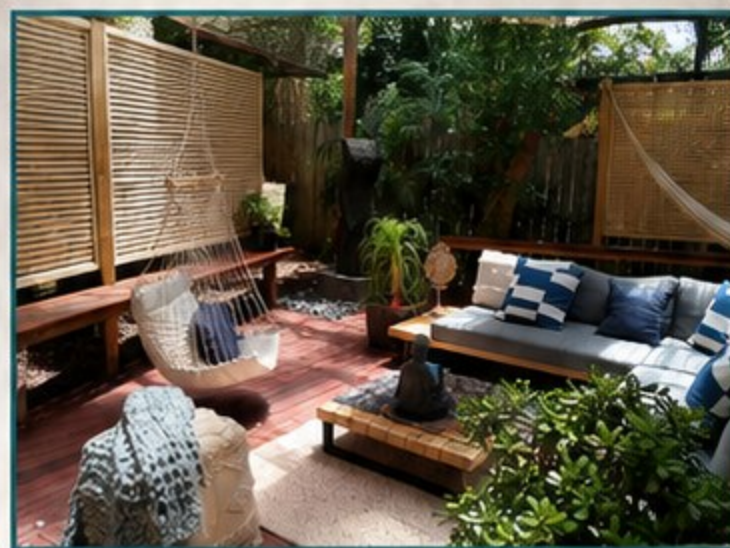

It wasn't about recreating the business I had lost.

It was about creating a new way of living.

A spa didn't have to be somewhere I went anymore.

It could be part of home.

And somewhere along the way, this became the beginning of what I now call The Ladybug Home Spa.

He built the spa.
And yes... I said "I do." ♡

LOVE YOU ♡

A place to relax...
to reconnect... and to be together.

COME INSIDE MY HOME SPA

This is where wellness became part of everyday life. ♡

Tony didn't just build a house.
He built a sanctuary.
Together with my daughter,
we imagined every space...
and he made it real.

Each room was created with love, intention, and the dream that wellness could be part of every single day.

A warm bath.
A quiet moment.
A grateful heart.
This is home. ♡

MASSAGE ROOM

A peaceful space for rest, healing, and caring touch.

HYDROTHERAPY ROOM

Water, steam, and relaxation to cleanse both body and mind.

INFRARED SAUNA

Deep heat therapy to detox, restore, and rejuvenate.

MEDITATION & YOGA SPACE

Surrounded by nature, this is where I breathe, pray, meditate, and reset.

OPEN HEART. OPEN HOME.

A home that flows with light,
love, and a little bit of spa everywhere.

BUILT WITH LOVE

This is our home. This is our story.
This is my home spa. ♡

You don't need a home like mine to create this feeling.

Throughout this experience, I'll show you how to create your own version—wherever you live. ♡

With love. ♡

MY NEW ZEALAND SANCTUARY

by the Sea ♡

*I thought Tony built me a home spa.
Then New Zealand taught me that nature had already built the greatest spa of all. ♡*

Here, our two cabins and our brick home become a little weekend sanctuary.
The ocean is only a two-minute walk away.
Friends and family come to stay.
We laugh, we cook, we share,
and we slow down together.

This is where I breathe deeper, move slower, and remember what really matters. ♡

🌿 LIFE HERE IS SIMPLE, AND DEEPLY NOURISHING.

Sunrises. Sunsets.
My daily reminder to pause and be grateful.

Yoga on the beach, stretching, and energy resets.

Doubtless Bay — nature's greatest spa.

Wellness happens
here — in the waves,
the sand, and the sky.

Cabin yoga and quiet moments.

LEARNING FROM the Land ♡

During our time in northern New Zealand, we were fortunate to be welcomed into a private Māori area and shown some of the ways mānuka grows and is used. We were generously gifted beautiful mānuka honey, which became part of my own daily wellness ritual.

Nature's gifts. ♡

Connection restores. Simplicity brings us home. ♡

WELLNESS DOESN'T ALWAYS LOOK LIKE A SPA

Sometimes it's yoga on the porch.
Sometimes it's walking two minutes to the ocean.
Sometimes it's a quiet bench, the sound of waves, and letting go.

This is wellness.
This is real life.
This is my sanctuary. ♡

New Zealand isn't just where I live.

It's where I feel alive. ♡

With love, ♡
